DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1, 3, 4, 6 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention lacks patentable utility. Independent claims 1 and 6 describe a method and apparatus, respectively, related to performing an evaluation of data and linearly combining properties. However, said claims fail to describe any tangible result such as the processing of a bank note in response to said operation.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The term "each of the different for" (line 2) is improper grammar.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Patent Number US 6,741,727 B1 by Hirasawa ("Hirasawa"). The bank note condition determining apparatus/bank note processing machine disclosed by Hirasawa determines conditions of degradation of bank notes by evaluating at least two different properties of a bank note via sensor 5 and control device 34 (see Figures 1A, 9 and 17; column 5, lines 1-39; and column 20, lines 25-28). Said properties include a fold or wrinkle and a hole. Hirasawa further discloses linking the pixel data representing said properties with each other by means of a linear combination (see column 9, lines 24-29; and column 10, lines 48-59), and deriving the condition of degradation of said bank note from the linked data of the different properties (see column 15, lines 5-49). Said properties related to soiling, spots, holes and missing parts.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 30 July 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The pixel data of Hirasawa (see column 8, lines 57-65) is a representation of the extent of a plurality of defects on a bank note. Such defects are in the form of wrinkles and holes (see Figure 17). The resulting defect data is thus subjected to an evaluation which includes a linear combination of said data.
